IDEAS INTO MOVING WORLDS.

MASTER BRAND GUIDELINES & PRODUCTION SPECIFICATION

Cinematic premium creative technology • Brand kit v1.0 • October 2026

Identity status: This kit contains a proposed new logo concept because no original source logo files were available. Treat the logo concept as pending brand-owner approval.

1. Brand foundation

Essence: Cinematic imagination, brought to life.

Positioning: AI-powered visual creation for creators who want to build purposeful visual experiences, not just isolated generations.

Promise: Your ideas deserve more than a prompt. They deserve a world.

Personality: Cinematic, intelligent, ambitious, expressive, precise and approachable.

Values: Imagination, control, continuity, craft, accessibility and trust.

2. Logo system

Primary lockup combines emblem, wordmark and tagline. Standalone emblem is for icons and avatars; monochrome versions support print and overlays.

Important: The included logo is a new proposed concept, not a recreation of unavailable earlier artwork. Approve it before declaring it the final master.

Do not stretch, skew, crop, arbitrarily recolor or apply unapproved effects. Keep clear space and test legibility at small sizes.

3. Color system

Obsidian #101319 — backgrounds and core surfaces.

Electric Cyan #16C5D0 — primary accent and active states.

Deep Teal #087F91 — secondary accent and dimensional depth.

Cinematic Amber #F2AE43 — selective highlights.

Studio White #F4F5F7 — light surfaces and text on dark backgrounds.

Frame Grey #818996 — secondary text and metadata.

These are proposed working tokens; reconcile with any subsequently approved master logo.

4. Typography

Space Grotesk is the display candidate; Inter is the UI candidate; JetBrains Mono is optional for technical metadata. Confirm font licenses before deployment. Preserve approved lettering if a separate final wordmark is commissioned.

5. Art direction

Use cinematic composition, controlled cyan/teal and amber lighting, atmospheric depth, coherent environments and clear visual intent. Preserve negative space for text.

Avoid generic neon-purple AI imagery, excessive lens flares, decorative particles, unmotivated chrome/glass effects and competitor interface imitation.

6. Motion and sound

Logo reveal: approximately 2–3 seconds with controlled emergence and a stable final lockup. Interface motion should be short and functional; campaign motion can be expressive.

Respect reduced-motion settings. Never distort the emblem. Create an original sonic signature and maintain licensing records.

7. Product UI

Default to a clean light theme with a deep neutral dark theme for immersive work. The visual output is the hero; the interface is the stage.

Use cyan for primary actions and amber sparingly. Provide distinct focus, disabled, loading, success and error states. Do not rely on color alone to communicate status.

Market advanced capabilities only after confirming they exist in the product.

8. Voice and messaging

Master tagline: IDEAS INTO MOVING WORLDS.

Proposed campaign lines: Make the impossible filmable. Your vision. Your direction. From first frame to final world.

Lead with outcomes, not model names. Be confident but not arrogant, cinematic but not melodramatic, and specific about capabilities.

9. Social and marketing

Create reusable templates for launch announcements, feature demos, creator case studies, before/after breakdowns, vertical covers, tutorials and partnerships.

Starting presets: Instagram portrait 1080 × 1350 px; square 1080 × 1080 px; vertical video 1080 × 1920 px; LinkedIn landscape 1200 × 627 px; presentations 16:9. Verify current platform requirements before publishing.

10. Governance and release

Maintain editable source files, exports, licenses and revision history. Check Sceneviz and logo trademark availability in relevant territories and classes before launch.

Before release: approve logo concept; verify vector exports; finalize colors and typography; test accessibility; validate product claims; archive source files; confirm rights and licensing. This document is not legal clearance.
